Mercy Hospital-Lebanon at a Glance

Our Heritage

In 1997, Breech Regional Medical Center in Lebanon, MO joined Mercy and became Mercy Hospital-Lebanon. In 1999, Mercy opened a new state of the art facility to house the hospital. In 2008, the Medical/Surgical Unit and Emergency Room were expanded and the Curry Cancer Center opened for cancer treatment. Today, Mercy Hospital-Lebanon is a 58-bed facility. We provide 24-hour emergency room care and a full range of diagnostic, preventative and restorative health care services.

Our Technology

- Paperless records. Among the first health care organizations in the U.S. to have a comprehensive, integrated electronic health record that provides real-time, paperless access to patient information
- MyMercy. This free service allows patients to connect online with their physicians, see medical information, view test results, renew prescriptions and schedule appointments and e-visits using a PC, tablet or smartphone
- Safewatch. The largest electronic ICU in the nation, providing 24-hour vigilance to critically ill patients. Alongside on-site medical teams, high-definition cameras and sophisticated technology allow specialized ICU physicians and nurses in a central command center to expand each patient's care team
- Telemedicine, including telestroke. This allows patients to have virtual visits with specialists from miles away through a secure video connection
- Digital Mammography
