Our Mission

As the Sisters of Mercy before us, we bring to life the healing ministry of Jesus through our compassionate care and exceptional service.

Women with a Mission - CAMCAC

A women's giving society of the Cooper-Anthony Mercy Child Advocacy Center, Women with a Mission - CAMCAC combines members' resources, vision and passion for helping others to support and improve the lives of the children who have been affected by child abuse.

Women make a difference.

When we join together with family, friends, co-workers and community, we can transform lives.

The Women with a Mission giving society unites diverse women with a common goal: to provide a safe, child-friendly environment where a comprehensive and coordinated approach is taken in response to allegations of child abuse. The Child Advocacy Center is here to bring high-quality services to all children who need it at no charge.

Giving Together is Greater.

By giving together, members of Women with a Mission can tackle larger initiatives. Whether it is to fund a new curriculum for the CAMCAC's prevention program, purchase new medical equipment for the forensic medical room, or new supplies for mental health counselors, funds will be used to directly impact the services provided for our children we serve.

Join Us!

All women who support the Cooper-Anthony Mercy Child Advocacy Center with a minimum annual gift of $1,000 become Women with a Mission - CAMCAC. (Mercy/CAMCAC co-workers may donate through payroll deduction.) We donate together, so our gift has greater impact. Members also enjoy meetings with fun social, educational and networking opportunities.

The Original Woman with a Mission

Thanks to her shining example of ministering to the poor, Catherine McAuley received a surprise inheritance. With it, she founded the Sisters of Mercy in 1831. They became known as the "walking sisters" for their willingness to go out into the community where they were most needed. From the start, the mission of Mercy depended on people willing to give their time and resources to build the ministry.

"Let charity then be our badge of honor." - Catherine McAuley
